PUSH MUNICIPAL PHONE

ENGINEER IRWIN SAYS CITY CAN INSTALL SYSTEM AT SMALL COST

The regular weekly meeting of the Greater Glendale Development Association convened in the library of the Intermediate School Tuesday evening. Norton C. Wells, president of the association, presided, and as C. D. Lusby, the secretary, was not present at the opening of the meeting, Capt. D. Ripley Jackson acted as secretary pro tem. After the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting the chair stated that the association would consider two important questions, one the report of committees on the telephone situation and the other a report from Mr. Lynch as to the need of an extension to the present water system.

City Attorney W. E. Evans was called upon to give the present status of telephone conditions. He stated that the Supreme Court had recently decided that Postmaster General Burleson had the rate-fixing power and now the only relief telephone subscribers of the Glendale community can look for is when Congress turns the telephone lines over to the original owners. When this transfer is made the old rates may be restored, but as to the assurance of the restoration of the old rates, Mr. Evans could give no encouragement. Upon being asked whether the telephone users should pay the increased rates Mr. Evans replied that it would not be proper for him to advise any one to avoid paying a bill that the Supreme Court had pronounced as being a valid one. Mr. Evans said that Mr. Irwin, who had been employed by the city trustees to investigate the cost of a municipal telephone system, was present, and would be able to give some information on this subject.

Mr. Irwin stated that he had been at work in connection with the engineer of the Public Service Department of the city and the city manager to ascertain the cost of construction and operation of a telephone system suitable for the Glendale community. He said he had not arrived at that point yet in his investigations that he could give out any final figures. Before final figures can be given out it will be necessary to get replies from letters sent to manufacturers of telephone instruments in the east in regard to current prices of these supplies. Mr. Irwin thinks Glendale with her well-installed light and water systems will be able to handle the telephone utility at a much smaller cost than if it were necessary to install it entirely independent of the other utilities. Mr.

RETURN OF ARTHUR J. BUDWAY

Arthur J. Budway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Budway, of West Harvard Street, arrived Monday from the Presidio at San Francisco where he was discharged as a First-Class Private from service in the 58th Coast Artillery. He enlisted in the 53d Ammunition Train, but was transferred a few months ago to the Coast Artillery. He has been two years in service and was employed on the French front in the motorcycle squad in carrying messages between the lines. Like the rest of the boys it is a great treat to get home. His mother reports that he looks fine and that while war has not aged him, it has matured him physically and mentally. He has made no plans for the future as yet, but because he is mechanically inclined he would like to get a job in that line.

ELECTIVE COURSES

EFFORT TO SECURE PERMISSION TO INTRODUCE THEM IN INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL

Plans which have been tentatively discussed by Superintendent Richardson D. White and the teachers under him at the Intermediate School looking to changes which would make the course more elastic and more responsive to the individual needs of students, crystalized Monday afternoon in an outline for a course the coming year, which has been referred to the County Board of Education for approval. If it receives the sanction of that body it will be put into effect. If not, no change can be made as the County Board is the final arbiter of the matter.

The thought is to make the school work there more of a preparation for the special lines of work for which students are inclined to fit themselves. For instance, provision would be made for the teaching of Latin and Spanish to such students as wished to take it up in preparation for professional life, and a number of

REMEMBERED MOTHER

SERGEANT HELEIN OBSERVES MOTHERS' DAY BY WRITING HOME

Sergeant L. W. Helein is one of the boys who is not ashamed of the love he bears his mother. We are glad to publish his letter below, so full of affection and reverence for the mother who bore him. He ends up with a characteristic soldier parody. The letter follows:

St. Aignan-Noyers, France,
May 11, 1919.

Dear Mother:—

This is your "Day" and as General Pershing has issued an order to all soldiers to write to their mothers, I being one of his soldiers must obey orders. But he did not have to do that because I know every mother's son loves her enough not to forget her this day or any other. My only wish is that I could be back there with you and come in with a beautiful bunch of flowers. I am wearing one today for you, dear Mother, away over here in France. While I have been in the army it has been your prayers that have kept me in good health and away from harm. Because our good Lord answers the prayers of a good mother. And you sure fill that to the very brim. Just came from church where I went to communion and it was offered up to you.

This is sure one beautiful morning but how could it be otherwise on this day; right in keeping with everything else a dear mother does. My thought will be with you all day long and I hope you are in the very best of health, and regaining your strength right along. Dear mother, take the very best of care of yourself. I don't

ADVOCATES ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Calvin Whiting of this city, in company with Prof. John C. Shedd of Occidental College spent a very pleasant week-end at San Diego, where they visited the aviation field at North Island and watched the flight of sea and land planes and where they were greatly interested in the inspection of a fine, foreign-built aeroplane captured from the Germans during the war. Mr. Whiting reports the roads between here and San Diego in very fine condition and rejoices in the program of road improvement which the state has undertaken saying he will cheerfully pay his proportion of the forty million dollar bond issue for highway improvement if voted by electors the first of July. When we get our ridge road fixed up, he says, we will be in good shape to travel from Old Mexico to San Francisco. After the main highways are built he favors state aid in the building of laterals from all the county seats and inland cities, believing that fine roads are the best asset a state can have and that they will promote immigration and the development of the state faster than any other one thing. He also believes that a coast highway which could be used for military purposes in the transport of guns and materials in case of war would be an excellent protection to our long coast line with its few forts.

DISAGREEABLE SURPRISE IN TELEPHONE BILL

George G. Isaacs, the photographer, had a most disagreeable surprise Tuesday when he received his telephone bill. He had rigidly refrained from all toll calls during the month of May, yet he was charged up with tolls to the amount of more than $6. His only explanation of the mystery was that people must have slipped in and used his phone for Los Angeles calls while he was busy in the rear room. As a certain remedy for this state of affairs, he ordered out his phone instanter.

POULTRY INSTRUCTION MEETING

Poultry raisers, and this means a good share of the residents of Glendale, should be interested in the announcement that N. C. Luse, U. S. field agent in poultry for the Department of Ariculture, which is co-operating with the College of Agriculture of the California State University, will be at the home of Mrs. R. P. Burr, 1123 Campbell Street, on Thursday at 3 p. m., to meet poultry producers and discuss with them how to increase production by efficient methods of feeding, sanitation, breeding, etc. It will be quite informal and he is anxious to have his audience ask questions, believing that in this way he can be of greatest aid in solving their biggest difficulties. The government is trying to stimulate poultry production and every one will be welcome at the home of Mrs. Burr Thursday afternoon.

SNYDER ELECTED MAYOR OF LOS ANGELES

DEFEATS MAYOR WOODMAN, FORMER SUCCESSFUL OPPONENT—POWER BOND ISSUE PASSED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Los Angeles, June 4.—Meredith P. Snyder, already three times mayor of Los Angeles, has been returned to that office for the fourth time. He defeated, in yesterday's election, Mayor Frederick T. Woodman, who had defeated him at the primaries two years ago.

At 8:30 this morning, with 691 precincts complete out of 755 in the city, the vote stood:

Snyder, 42,142; Woodman, 25,845.

Snyder's majority at that hour was 16,297. Although Woodman headquarters had not officially conceded defeat, it was plain that the remaining precincts could not influence the result.

The voters also apparently have passed the $13,500,000 power bond issue. Six hundred and ninety-one complete precincts give:

For the bonds, 42,825; against, 19,419.

That is a slight margin over the required two-thirds vote in favor of the bond issue. The money is to be used to purchase the distributing system of the Southern California Edison Company for use by the city's light and power department.

The same number of precincts gave the proposition to sell the city's surplus electrical power to private companies for distribution 40,537 votes and against it 19,592.

The Wilmington-East San Pedro $135,000 sewer bond issue carried 43,073 to 16,247.

For city council there were eighteen candidates and nine to be elected. The nine leaders in the 691 completed precincts, in the order of their vote, were: Boyle Workman, Bert L. Farmer, R. H. Criswell, W. J. Sanborn, F. C. Langdon, A. P. Fleming, Walter Mallard, O. P. Conaway, John B. Reeves.

Only about 100 votes separated Reeves and F. C. Wheeler in tenth place. It is possible the remaining precincts may change this result.

For city attorney the vote was: Chas. S. Burnell, 40,958; Henry N. James, 10,039.

WESTERN UNION OPERATORS GO OUT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Atlanta, Ga., June 4.—Western Union telegraphers struck here this morning in sympathy with striking girl telephone operators and also to enforce the telegraphers' demands.

JOHNSON WOULD PROTECT CALIFORNIA

WILL OFFER IN SENATE AMENDMENTS TO LEAGUE COVENANT AFFECTING JAPANESE RELATIONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, June 4.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California has announced in the Senate that he will introduce amendments to the League of Nations covenant designed especially to protect California's interests with regard to the Japanese question. He hopes to so amend the covenant that Japan cannot put the California anti-alien law, California school legislation or the Japanese immigration question before the league. He declared these are questions primarily for California to decide, and that as the covenant now stands Japan can take them before the league and they will "be settled by foreign diplomats whose governments have secret treaties with each other."

Johnson also will offer amendments providing for a referendum vote on declarations of war, protecting the Monroe Doctrine and modifying the Shantung settlement. The Senator said the situation in the Senate may prevent him from making his proposed speaking tour in California.

VIENNA NEWSPAPERS DISSATISFIED

DECLARE THAT "PEACE TREATY IS WORSE THAN THEIR WORST EXPECTATIONS"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Vienna, June 4.—Vienna newspapers are condemning the peace treaty bitterly. The Neue Freie Presse today declared: "The treaty is worse than our worst expectations. It will lead to complete ruin."

PROGRAM OF LEAGUE OPPONENTS

DECLARE THEY WILL FORCE CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION OF "BIG BUSINESS" INTERESTS IN TREATY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, June 4.—Opponents of the League of Nations declared here today that they propose to force investigations of what part, if any, "big business" has played in formulating the peace treaty. They said that the statements made by Lodge and Borah yesterday that certain international bankers have received copies of the treaty, while the Senate has not, will lead to an investigation to show who financed Taft's campaign for the League of Nations; whether "big business" attempted to prevent Republican leaders from fighting the league, and whether "big business" wants the league ratified, and if so, why.

MR. SQUIER LOST

DISAPPEARS AFTER LEAVING BARBER SHOP TUESDAY COUNTRY SCOURED

The disappearance on Tuesday of Russel L. Squier of 918 North Louise Street is causing great anxiety to his wife and friends. He is an elderly man, 76 years of age, and for some time his mind has been clouded. He has come and gone, however, in apparent safety from his home to his barber on Brand Boulevard, and Mrs. Squiers felt no anxiety when he left her at a fairly early hour Tuesday morning to make the trip before the heat of the day became too intense. When noon arrived and he failed to make his appearance, she became alarmed, followed him to Brand Boulevard, traced him to the barber shop and to the Pacific Electric station, but there all clews seemed to end. A search was instituted and she was out with friends most of Tuesday night, but at this writing he has not been found and no news of him has been received by the police of Glendale and Los Angeles, who are cooperating in the effort to locate him.

Mr. Squier is a rather large man, weighing about 175 pounds. He is slightly bald, but his remaining hair is perfectly white, as are also his mustache and goatee. Because of his military bearing he is often addressed as "Colonel." He stoops a little when he walks and always carries a cane. When he left home he was dressed in a rather dark gray coat and vest, and his pants of lighter gray hung very loose. On his head he wore a rather faded soft brown hat. In his right hand vest pocket was a card bearing his name, address and telephone number. He has been a familiar figure on the streets he traversed and has quite a host of friends, many of whom have made a point of talking with him about flowers, of which he is very fond.

Any information which may aid in discovering him will be thankuflly received by Mrs. Squier and can be telephoned to her—Glendale 1396-W—or to the police department of the city.

It is possible he may have wandered away to the hills or that some kindly hearted autoist, seeing him upon the road, has carried him some distance away. If asked whether he were going to Los Angeles or to Pasadena, he would be more than likely to say yes, and he may be wandering about in some other suburb. Had he been taken to any hospital, the fact would probably have been communicated to the police.

Mrs. Squier is greatly touched by the kindly interest manifested by the community and the sympathy expressed by the friends who have kept the telephone busy with their inquiries.

USE PHONE LESS

On account of the excessive telephone exchange rate for local service only, the Evening News will have one phone instead of two in the office. This will necessitate less use of the phone and more prepared manuscript being sent to the office. Yours for a live, local, daily newspaper,

A. T. COWAN, Pub.

PICNICS

A number of important picnics are scheduled for this month. The Parent-Teacher Federation picnic comes off June 9th at the home of Mrs. John Robert White, Jr. June 18th the annual picnic of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle will be enjoyed on tre grounds of the leader, Mrs. Chas. H. Toll, on Kenneth Road.

THE FRUIT SITUATION

There will be a great fruit yield this year, apparently. In Sycamore Canyon, for instance, the apricot and peach trees are hanging full of green fruit and there seems to be nothing now to prevent it maturing. Small fruits are quite abundant, also, but the high cost of labor and materials keeps the price high. Strawberries which were formerly considered high at more than 5c a box, now bring 20c for the best quality. Raspberries and blackberries are about the same, but gooseberries are the usual price of 15c a pound. It is stated that very little fruit will go to waste this year as the canneries have engaged far ahead. For instance, the Hinckly-Beach Cannery at Burbank already has 750 tons of apricots and 1200 tons of peaches engaged and are in the market for many more, it is said. Heretofore many tons of peaches, pears, apricots and plums have rotted on the ground for want of an efficient marketing system, but it is claimed that all this will be eliminated hereafter.

ENGLISH SETTING

EVANGELINE HUNTLEY AND SEYMOUR SMITH WED IN CHURCH OF THE ANGELS

An ideal wedding was the verdict of the friends who gathered Tuesday evening at the Little Church of the Angels in Garvanza to witness the marriage of Miss Evangeline Huntley to Seymour G. Smith. It was the twilight hour and the light which lost itself in the dark arches of the vaulted room and the dull red of the brick walls, was transfused with color from the beautiful, stained-glass window back of the altar, illuminated by the last rays of the setting sun, and fell as a benediction upon the kneeling pair as they pledged their troth.

It was all very English from the time one entered the enclosure of the quaint, little church, which seats only about 200, and which is a gem of architecture. The odor of box hedge which assailed the nostrils, the churchly bearing and white vestments of the Rev. Harry Thompson, the rector, who officiated, and used the full Episcopal ring service with its solemn admonitions, the detention of the bridal party in the entry following the ceremony to sign the register and execute the marriage documents, was very British. Only the landscape, parching under the dry heat of a California summer day was different. All the formalities required by the established church in England were rigidly observed, and a few guests who had planned to wear no hats, were not permitted to enter the door until they had provided themselves with headgear, i. e., the women folk. The men were allowed to doff their hats as usual.

The church is blest with a fine organ and a charming organ interpretation of Mendelssohn's Spring Song entertained the waiting witnesses until it was time for the notes of the wedding march to peal forth and announce the slow coming of the marriage party.

The bride was very lovely, in her white satin gown trimmed with princess lace, its train topped by the long sweep of the bridal veil of silk net fastened with a coronet of orange blossoms. Though a trifle pale she was sweetly serious and perfectly self-possessesd as she entered the church on the arm of her father, her downcast eyes upon her very beautiful shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, lavender orchids and bride rosebuds. Preceding her were Miss Gladys Justema, maid of honor, in a rose pink organdie gown with hat and shower bouquet to match, the bright-

PRETTY LUNCHEON

Mrs. Charles H. Sanders, of 1320 North Brand Boulevard, entertained last Thursday with a prettily-appointed luncheon in honor of Mrs. B. A. McNeill, of Chicago, at which covers were laid for ten. Cecil Brunner roses were used in decoration. Following the luncheon a pleasant musical and social afternoon was spent, the ladies enjoying Mrs. Sanders' hospitality being: Mrs. B. A. McNeill, Mrs. William Farlander, Mrs. William Gibson, Mrs. C. Letton, Mrs. Shoupe, Mrs. Arthur Cross, Mrs. M. Viohl, Mrs. Freshman of Los Angeles, Mrs. Charles Glover, Mrs. J. F. Hearnshaw.

LEAVING GLENDALE

MRS. A. W. DICKINSON ENTERTAINS FOR MRS. A. M. MORTENSEN, MRS BERT WARD

In honor of Mrs. Bert Ward and Mrs. A. M. Mortensen, who are leaving the city, Mrs. A. W. Dickinson, of 220 North Central Avenue, is entertaining about a dozen of their special friends quite informally this afternoon. Mrs. Mortensen and her husband will leave Glendale within the next two weeks for San Francisco, where they will make their home. Mr. Mortensen is changing his business and establishing a basket factory at Antioch, not far from the Bay City. He was traffic manager of the Panama Pacific Exposition so they are well acquainted with Frisco and will easily adjust themselves. They prefer living in Southern California and hope some time to return to Glendale, but business condifions are more favorable in the North, they say.

Mrs. Bert Ward leaves next week for Chicago, where she will be the guest of her sister for a couple of months, returning the latter part of July.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair. Continued warm weather.

ARE WE AWAKE TO THE DANGER?

The government has at last become thoroughly aroused to the menace of anarchy and Bolshevism. We have been placidly resting on our arms, assuring ourselves that in free America, where there are so many home owners, the red terror could gain no foothold. But the two recent bomb outrages have rudely awakened us from our dream of security. These incarnate fiends regard not life nor property in their mad scheme of overturning existing conditions. The only consoling feature of their campaigns of destruction is that in their haste they manage to kill off some of their own devil's brood by premature explosions, as was the case Monday. It is now announced that a concentrated effort is being made to run to earth these fiendish plotters. This has been done heretofore, but always the zeal of running down the criminals gave place to a sense of easy security after they were in jail. Conscienceless lawyers, working on susceptible juries, managed to secure light sentences or acquittals, and then all was to do over again. Every one of these wretches should be deported, as so often threatened. Will we ever awake to our danger?

A REMINDER OF PAST BRUTALITIES

A Morgan Robertson sea story, with its accompaniment of brutal treatment of sailors by captain and mates, is being enacted in New York City now in the trial of Captain Pederson and his son, of the old "hell ship," Puako, for the murder of a seaman. The testimony so far is almost an exact counterpart of many of Robertson's tales, wherein men were drugged, then shanghaied aboard sailing ships for long cruises, and then were knocked about and many of them killed by inhuman officers. Robertson's true-to-life stories did much to arouse the American conscience to this foul blot on our seamanship and cause the passage of laws to protect sailors. Just as Charles Reade aroused the English people to the horrors of unbridled trades unionism and unchecked private madhouses, by his novels, so Morgan Robertson worked a reform in the treatment of sailors by his books. And, by the way, three years before the sinking of the Titanic with the loss of more than 1,500 passengers, Robertson had prophesied it with utmost fidelity, in his story, "The Wreck of the Titan."

WHAT HAS BECOME OF THE SUBMARINE?

The romance of air flights seems to have totally obscured the possibilities of the submarine. When, in 1916, the Deutschland made its successful trip from Hamburg to New York City under the seas, bringing a cargo of freight and taking back all she could carry, the wonderful possibilities of the submarine as a freight and passenger carrier were descanted on very freely by the newspapers. If a small boat of this class could successfully elude the swarms of British, French and other Allied warships, both going and coming 3,000 miles between ports, what could not be accomplished by a much larger craft in peace times? It could be loaded to its capacity and start off in any kind of weather, seeking the depths only when storms menaced. Therefore every trip could be made in absolute safety, for there are no storms beneath the ocean's surface. And if the Germans, with their depleted supplies of building material for ships, could turn out a submarine with a cruising radius of 5,000 miles, what could not be done in this respect by American ingenuity, backed with limitless supplies of the best materials? A giant airship costs from $25,000 up to twice that amount and can carry an extremely limited amount of freight or passengers. A submarine costing fifty times as much could carry sereval hundred fold more weight in freight and with greater safety. Airship sailings depend on the weather and would have to be discontinued a part of each year, while submarines could make trips with absolute regularity. The glamour of heroic adventure invests the airship, but the solid commercial possibilities would seem to be with the submarine.

CALIFORNIA COTTON COMPETES WITH SOUTH

It used to be said in the South, before and during the Civil War, "Cotton is King," and "The South is cotton's realm." But the war proved that the world could get along without the South's cotton if it had to and that it was not worth a war with the powerful North, with its fleet of more than a thousand ships, many of them ironclads, to compel the opening of Southern ports to the exporting of cotton. Today it is proven that Imperial Valley can divide honors with the South in cotton production and the manufacture of cotton's by-products. And if the South carries out its threat to curtail production to keep up cotton prices, Imperial may grab off her cotton supremacy.

A PLAGUE OF ANTS

There never was an Eden into which some serpent did not creep. California has nearly all the blessings one can think of, but she also has ants. Not the big, black, ferocious fellows, nor the warrior white ants, but the little, pesky, insinuating, red-brown variety that, like a certain popular auto, "can go anywhere." They climb to the top of the house if necessary and come down the cooler, or else come in through solid concrete foundations, apparently. They get into a jar with the top screwed on and it takes a mighty tight cork to keep them out of a bottle. They enter the refrigerator and saunter around over your block of ice, or enter the heating oven and wink at you as you try to give them a good warming. They are a real menace to the householder and destroy a great deal of precious food. Ant pastes and powders check them for a short time, but nothing permanently drives them away. It is a pity science cannot devise some plan to get rid of them.

Today at 12:30 boys in the debating section of Glendale Union High who have been greatly interested in the telephone situation here and tried to inform themselves concerning the arguments on both sides of the controversy and also in regard to governmental control, had a debate on the question which was of great interest to those who had the opportunity of hearing it.

A very attractive candy store which is to be known as "The Caramel Shop," has been opened in the recessed portion of the Glendale Music Company at 106 East Broadway by Mrs. C. A. Salyer, who is a sister of Mrs. W. E. Pelley. She will naturally handle the Pelley goods, but the shop is entirely independent of the Pelley candy factory. She has chosen an excellent location at the civic center. Nearly everyone has a sweet tooth and she will probably have a good trade.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ENTERTAIN

The social evening provided by Lodge No. 331, Knights of Pythias, assisted by La Halla Temple of the Pythian Sisters, Tuesday evening, was a great success, and much enjoyed by the 120 or more persons who participated. A preliminary literary and musical program included readings by Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, whistling numbers by Marjorie Nye, a monologue by Joe Griffin, vocal solos by Frank Booth and Mrs. Winona Crawford, all of which were appreciated and warmly encored. W. J. Hibbert had charge of this part of the evening's entertainment and himself contributed clever sleight-of-hand numbers which were very diverting.

The floor was then cleared and taken possession of by the young people who danced until a late hour to the music of piano and drum.

Officers of the lodge state that a social evening will be given every month hereafter.

Irwin answered many questions asked from the audience and in every particular seemed very well posted on the subject in hand. He said there are many independent, mutual and stockholders' companies that are doing business independent from the Pacific Telephone Company. He referred to the Home Company at Pomona, which now has about 2200 subscribers and is giving free service to LaVerne, San Dimas and Claremont. It is the opinion of Mr. Irwin that he will be able to make a definite report on his findings to the city trustees one week from Thursday night.

In reply to a question, City Attorney Evans said the Railroad Commission would not have any right to interfere with the rate-fixing of a municipal telephone system, and that if Burbank should establish a municipal telephone system it would be possible, by mutual consent, to have free service between the two cities. He also stated that the Railroad Commission would have the right to fix the toll to be charged in case a municipal system of Glendale would ask for connections with Los Angeles. A per cent. of the toll charge would be paid into the telephone department of our city.

Captain Jackson, chairman of the committee on solicitation to remove phones, reported that he had a list of about 1600 classified and arranged alphabetically. On motion, it was decided to defer the presentation of this list to the telephone company until such a time as the association might think the presentation of the list would have the best results.

The sentiment of the meeting was very strongly in favor of the speedy installation of a municipal telephone system, as the rates now in force by the Pacific Telephone Company deny residents in moderate financial circumstances the privilege of having telephone service.

On account of the lateness of the hour, it was decided to bring the water extension question up as the first order of business at the next meeting of the Development Association, Tuesday evening, June 10th.

GOING AWAY PARTY

Mrs. John T. Crampton of 213 East Chestnut Street was hostess at a little party Tuesday evening for her daughter, Miss Grace Crampton, who is leaving the last of the week for Kansas City to act as bridesmaid at the wedding of her friend, Miss Marie Smallfield, to Captain Arthur C. Hurst.

The entertainment of the guests was suggestive of the function in which Miss Crampton is to take part, and was quite unique. Each girl was provided with a clothespin and with a stock of variegated paper, scissors and paste, with instructions to design mannikin bridesmaids. The combined result of their efforts was wonderfully pretty and showed great originality. Following that stunt stationery was distributed and guests wrote travel letters to be read by Miss Crampton on her journey.

Refreshments were served and informal musical numbers closed the evening. Guests were Misses Bertha Sayre, Dorothy Webster, Violet Turner, Gertrude Rock, Olga Purt, Athena Purt, Lilian Shropshire, Birdie and Grace Shropshire, Mrs. Mary E. Shropshire, all of Glendale, and Mrs. F. A. McAllister and Miss Ethel McAllister of Hollywood.

Miss Crampton expects to be gone for several months.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH NIGHT

The monthly church-night will be observed this evening. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

A social time will follow. A brief business and devotional meeting will be held.

These monthly meetings are proving very satisfactory and of much interest.

The committee in charge of the dinner night is Mrs. S. R. Frazee, Mrs. H. Ballinger and Mrs. Price.

MORE GRASS FIRES

If grass fires continue at the present rate the danger zones will soon be burned off. Yesterday afternoon there were two such fires in vacant lots, one in the 300 block on West Acacia, the other at the junction of West Windsor Road and San Fernando.

There were three alarms before noon today. One summoned the Tropico truck to a vacant lot at Park and Central, on which grass was burning, which was soon extinguished. At exactly the same moment a call came for the Buick in Station No. 1 to help fight a fire in Verdugo Canyon, near the property of Bullock, the dairyman. All the troop went except Fireman Kingsburn, who was left to answer station calls. The men departed at 10:30 and did not get back for an hour and a half. During their absence about 11:15 the lone Firemann Kingsburn answered a call with Truck No. 3 and extinguished a grass fire at 549 Oak Street.

At 12:30 the Buick returned to Station No. 1 leaving seven men in Verdugo Canyon to fight the blaze there which had developed into a mountain fire which burned over about ten acres. At the hour named it was believed that the fire was under control.

In a fire which burned with considerable fury Tuesday afternoon the hillsides 'round about the Annandale golf links were burned off and some of the fencing charred. Property owners in the neighborhood were taking time by the forelock and back firing to protect their holdings.

IN GLENDALE
1. We should have Civic Center.
2. We should have equitable telephone rates.
3. We should have an industrial district.
4. We should have a comfort station at Brand and Broadway.
5. We should have a good, first-class hotel.
6. But should we not have a sanitary sewer system installed NOW?

est figure in the rainbow of color in pastelle shades which surrounded the bride in the garbing of her attendants. Only little Ruth Tower, the flower girl, who followed Miss Justema and strewed rose petals in the path of the bride, was permitted to wear white organdie, but it had pink accessories which matched the pink of the rose petals she carried in a Dresden basket tied with fluffy pink tulle bows. There were to have been two flower girls and it was a great disappointment to little Katherine Evans when sickness robbed her of the chance to take part in the wedding of the young lady she so greatly admires.

Also, there were to have been six bridesmaids, but one of them—Carrie Stone—stole a march on her friends and went to Texas to her own wedding about a week ago, and Miss Dorothy Hobbs, who was also to have been an attendant was carried off to Berkeley last week. But those who were faithful looked very pretty. All wore organdie gowns, matched by their hats and bouquets. Miss Lila Webster was in blue, Miss Waunita Emery in yellow, Miss Esther Schremp in lavender and Miss Marjorie Imler in green.

Dwight Stephenson was best man and the ushers were La Motte Gardener of Los Angeles, Walter Beach, Sidney Simon and Jamie Shea of Glendale. Like the groom all were in conventional evening dress.

Mrs. Huntley, mother of the bride, was gowned in a handsome silver gray charmeuse, satin beaded and embroidered and wore a chiffon hat to match, its crown appliqued with flowers in pastelle shades of pink and blue.

Miss Virginia Huntley wore pink organdie with hat to match, and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, mother of the groom, was garbed in King's blue charmeuse satin with sequin trimmings, and wore a large, white hat trimmed in pink and blue.

Following the ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Huntley, where about forty relatives of bride and groom were entertained with a reception and supper, after which the young people left by auto on a tour which will take them to the northern part of the state and consume about six weeks. On their return they will be at home to their friends for a time in the Huntley residence during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Huntley and in the meantime will be planning the home they intend to build, and which they will need to house the numerous and very beautiful wedding gifts with which they have been showered, the collection including everything they could possibly need in silver, most of it of the Queen Mary pattern, beautiful lamps, cut glass, a full set of hand-painted china in forget-me-not decoration, vases, linen of every description, baking dishes, coffee percolators, toasters and a long list of other beautiful and useful things, not the least of which were cheques aggregating $850.

The young people were schoolmates and their union is a natural outgrowth of long acquaintance and regard. The groom, who is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, served in the army and was advanced to the rank of lieutenant before he was honorably discharged. He is now in partnership with his father in the grocery business.

The bride has been a resident of Glendale for about thirteen years and began her school life here. Two years ago she was graduated from Glendale High as an honor pupil for the four years of the course, and subsequently spent a year at Pomona College, which she devoted to the culture of her beautiful voice. She is one of the best beloved girls in the city. The man she has chosen is also greatly esteemed, all of which augurs well for their future happiness.

think it will be very long now before I am on my way to you. And just as soon as I land and can get near a telegraph station, I sure will telegraph to you that I am back on U. S. A. soil again. I am feeling fine and still am gaining weight.

I am very happy that I have a dear mother to write to on this day. My sympathy goes out to those boys and mothers that have no one to write to. If I knew of any mother that had no son to write to her, I sure would be more than glad to do it and if there is any that you know of hand it to her and tell her that it is for her. It will make her happy to know that some one thought of her on this day. Especially those mothers that lost their sons in this war.

At church this morning the priest sure gave a beautiful sermon on our mothers. But I don't think that he told us anything that we did not already know. It was just a reminder. I could go on and on singing your praises, but I guess I better quit because you might get tired of reading it. No, that is not true, because a mother never gets tired of her son praising her. I could not do real justice to that phrase because you are so very good. If at any time in my past years I have in any way offended you I want you to forgive me on this day. I will close with heaps of kisses and love to the dearest mother in the world.

Your son,

L. W.

THE SOLDIER'S PRAYER

Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my gun to keep
Grant me that no soldier takes
My socks and shoes before I wake.

Lord, please grant me with my slumber
To keep my cot upon its lumber
Make no pegs or guy ropes break
To drop this tent before I wake.
Keep me safely in Thy sight,
Grant me no fire drills tonight,
And in the morning let me wake
Breathing scents of sirloin steak.

God protect me in my dreams
And make it better than it seems.
Grant that time may swiftly fly
That will send me home to live or die.

Deliver me from work and drills
And when I'm sick don't feed me C. C. pills,
If I should hurt this head of mine
Don't paint it up with iodine.

In a snowy feather bed
Where I long to lay my head
Far away from all camp scenes
And the smell of Army beans.

Take me back into the land
Where people walk without a band,
Where no thrilling bugle blows
To let you know the sun has rose.

God Thou knowest all my woes,
Give me back my civilian clothes,
Take me back and I'll promise then
Never to enlist in the Army "Again."
Amen.

ELECTIVE COURSES

things which are now in the prescribed course such as music, drawing, type-writing, manual training, cooking, sewing, agriculture and some other subjects would also be made elective with the idea of fitting the course to the student rather than the student to the course. For instance, a boy who had a bent for mechanical drawing and wished to specialize on that would be allowed to cut out some other things and take a double amount of instruction in the drawing, and the same would be true of other lines of study. The boy who plans to enter commercial life might wish to devote considerable time to book-keeping and type-writing and to leave out agriculture.

At the beginning of the year Mr. White in the course of an interview dwelt on the tendency which the war had stimulated to make our public school curriculums more practical to the end that students might be fitted for self-support when they leave school. In other words, to give them physical training and the groundwork of a self-sustaining occupation. This plan which he and his associates have evolved, if the County Board of Education authorizes them to carry it out, will be along that line and tend to avoid waste of time by students in the study of things which they never expect to use
